Roger Aguirre is a Hispanic male who was last seen in Chicago, Illinois on November 20, 1975. On the day of his disappearance, Roger was last seen in front of his apartment building talking with a man in a red car. Roger's family grew worried after several days went by without any contact from him. As his family's concerns grew, they then went to his apartment only to find all the lights and the TV still on, however, there was no sign of Roger and he has never been seen again.

At the time of his disappearance, Roger was described as 5'9-5'11" tall with black hair and brown eyes. He worked at Commercial Solvents on Fullerton Street in Chicago and often frequented the local establishments on Clark and Diversey Streets. Roger had a friend named Ernest whom his family is eager to reconnect with. If you are Ernest or know how to contact him, please reach out.
